This text was written at a beginning of first grade level (based on the phonics skills and sight words chosen). The length of the text may be longer than your child is accustomed to. My advice is to read the text TO your child on the first day. On subsequent readings, you can offer to share the reading, taking turns. Gradually release the responsibility and limit support as it is re-read.

God Made It All

A long time ago, in the past, God had it in His plan to make all that you can see.

©2012MMBOX PRODUCTION

The world was a drab mass of black. God said, "Let there be light!" And BAM - there was light!

God made
the water and the sky.

He made the flat land, the sand, and the big mountains that stand tall. He made plants, like the green grass and trees.

He made the sun for the day,

the stars that
look like glass,

and the moon
for night.

God made all the animals. He made the cats and ants that go on land and the little bats that fly in the sky. He made animals of the water, like clams.

God made man. He made Adam and Eve. He put them in command over all the land and animals.

At last, God sat back. He was glad He had made it all and said it was good and grand. He had made it with His mighty Hand.
