1. Blending Puzzles

Cut apart puzzles.

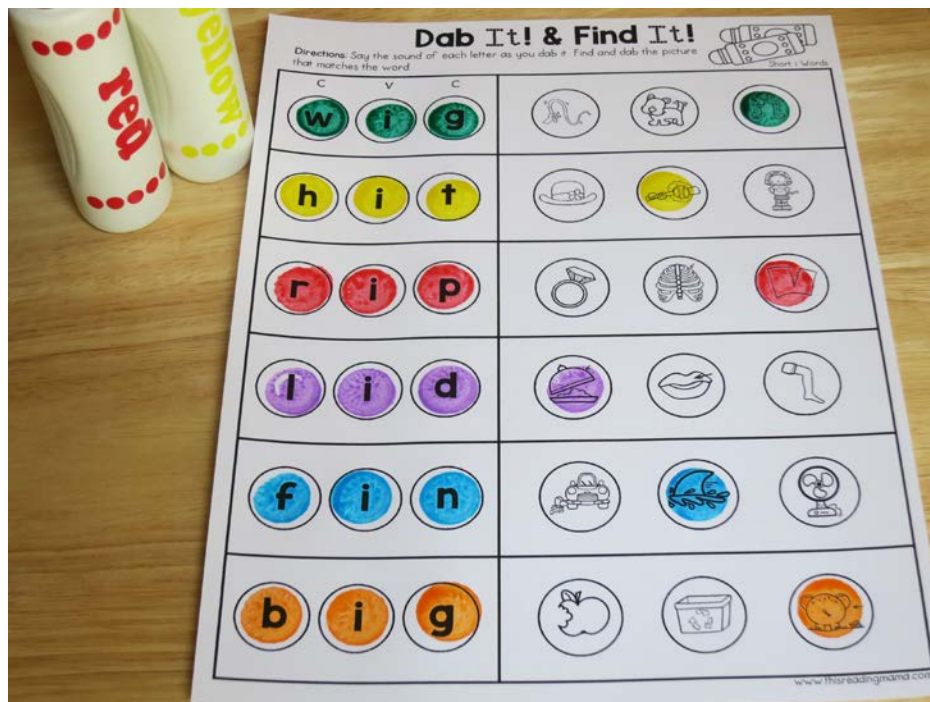

Learners can put the puzzles back together and blend the sounds to make words. The pictures make this activity self-checking.

Stick with just on vowel pattern or mix it up with more than one vowel sound.

*Color and blackline included!

2. Dab It! & Find It!

(only in blackline)

Learners dab each letter of the word and say the sound of the letter, like w-i-g.

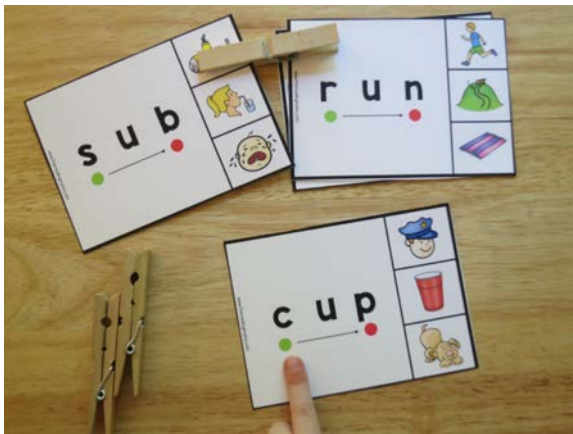

Learners find and dab the picture that matches the word they just sounded out.

Don't have dot paint? Cover with small counters or Power Magnets or learners can just color in the letters and pictures.

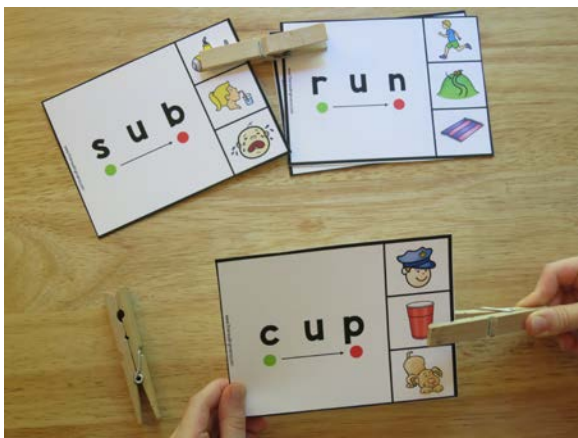

*Answer Keys included!

3. Blending Clip Cards

To make self-checking cards, go to your printer settings/preferences and set the cards to print front and back short ways.

Learners start on the green dot and sound through the word to the red dot, blending the sounds together to make the word.

Using black/white clip cards?
Simply color in the dots with green and red yourself!

Then, learners clip the picture that matches the word they just blended together.

*Color & blackline included!

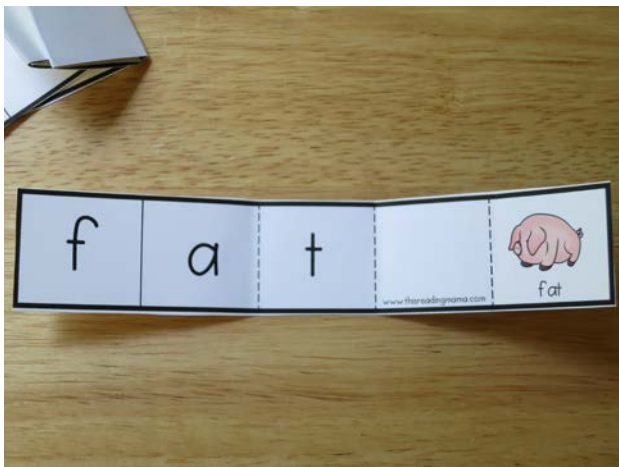

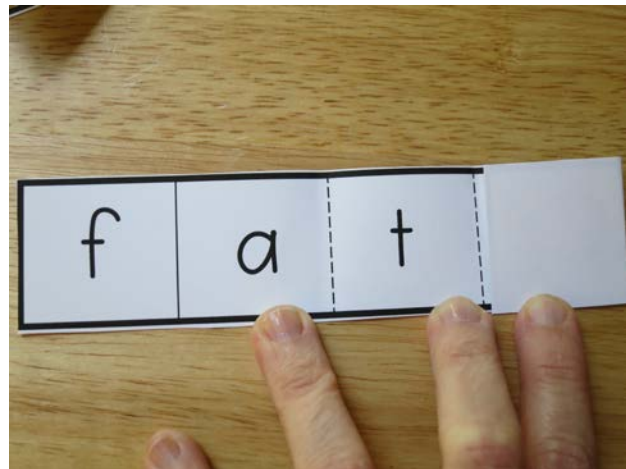

4. Blending Strips

Cut apart blending strips.

1. Fold on the dotted lines so that all that shows is the first letter of each word.

2. Learners unfold one letter at a time and sound through the word.

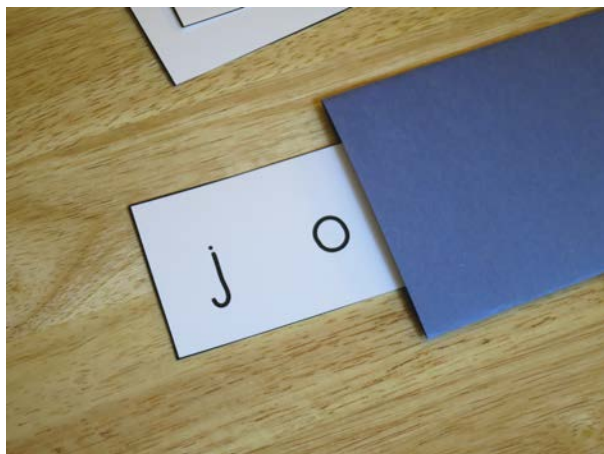

3. Learners unfold the strip all the way to check their answer/word.

*Color and blackline included!

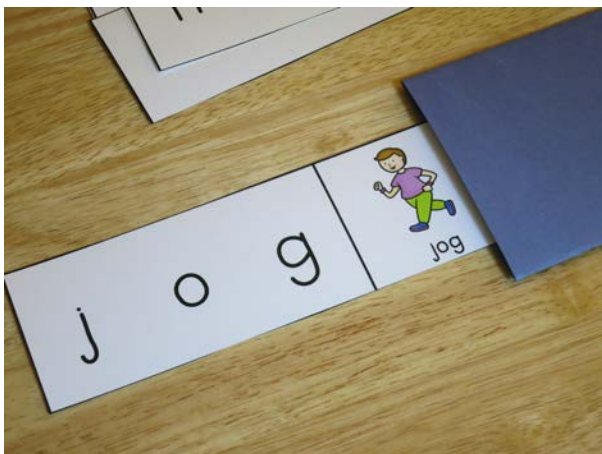

5. Slide & Say

1. Print the Slide & Say cards. Cut out. Tri-fold a piece of construction paper and tape it closed on one side. (This is the back of mine.) You can also cut the end off of one side of a security envelop that's been sealed shut.

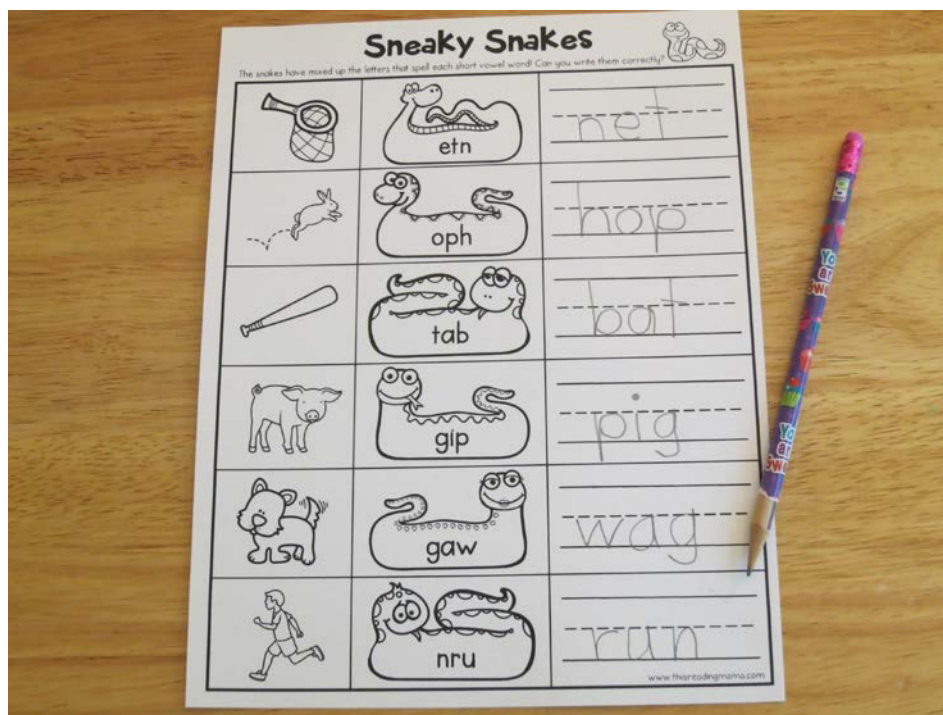

2. One letter at time, learners pull the strip out of the jacket and say the sound of the letter, blending the sounds together as they go.

3. Once all the letters have been blended to form a word, learners can check their answer by pulling the strip out all the way.

*Color and blackline included!

6. Sneaky Snakes Blend & Write

Learners identify the picture, then stretch out the sounds in the word to spell the word correctly. All the letters they need to spell each word are on the "sneaky snakes".

*Answer Keys included!
